

Neil Delamere Launches Portlaoise College “Night at the Races”

On Thursday 27th October, Comedian Neil Delamere launched Portlaoise College’s “Night at the Races” in aid of a Gambia trip that students and teachers from the College will be partaking in next Easter. The Night at the Races will take place at Newbridge Greyhound Stadium on Saturday 3rd December at 8pm. Tickets for the night cost €15 and include Entry, Race Card and Finger Food

Students and staff from Portlaoise College will be visiting both primary and secondary schools in Gambia. Funds raised from the night will go to providing much needed resources to children and teachers in these schools both primary and secondary schools that will be visited at Easter.

Over the last 3 weeks Portlaoise College has been awash with fundraising activities in aid of the Gambia trip. 5th Year students have shown great enterprise and leadership skills in organising a FIFA 2012 tournament, a coin trail for 1st and 2nd year tutor groups, a teacher torture competition and a Staff V Students Volleyball match. We would like to wish students all the best with the remaining fundraising.
